Our advice, application and appeal services stand out because they are completely tailored around our clients. This means that every single one of our advice sessions is unique. Our lawyers work on the basis that every client's situation is unique. So, our lawyers craft their services around you. If you are applying for a Spouse Visa, your lawyer will work with you both to find the best solution for your specific situation. If you are a business, we can help draft up a business plan, and visit your business to personally assess your site. No matter how complex your case, your assigned lawyer will work around the clock to find a solution that suits you and those involved with the immigration application. All our advice sessions are untimed. This means that your lawyer will spend as long as it takes with you, ensuring that your enquiry has been discussed in details and you feel comfortable and confident in the advice given to you. If you proceed with an application, your lawyer will work with you to support you through the entire application process. They will write to the Home Office to plead your case, source and organise extra documents and create a comprehensive bundle to support your case in full. If you are lodging an appeal, your lawyer will communicate with the Home Office on your behalf, find out the grounds of your initial refusal and use that to make an informed decision on how best to proceed. Whatever service you choose, we will perform to the best of our ability and go above and beyond to make sure you get the help you need and deserve.
